Drawing buildings can be a fun and unique experience. But all buildings are different which gives them their own appeal. Pop Art has a way of finding colorful humor in things and objects we see everyday. So can a building be Pop Art? Let's give it a try.

STEP ONE:
With a pencil, draw a few buildings (they do not have to be perfect). 5 - 9 buildings is fine, just make sure a couple of them overlap.

NOTE:
Please create your own style of building! Remember, you have the freedom to create any style that you want.
STEP TWO:
Add some funny faces to the buildings (Do at least 7 for good measure). You can use the examples shown to guide you but feel free to change any way you like.

STEP THREE:
Add some extra fun to your art! Draw the sun, clouds, windows, or stars if it’s a night scene. Once you’ve completed, you can then trace over your artwork using a black Sharpie to create a nice, neat, lined appearance. Take your time on this step as there is no way to erase permanent ink.
STEP FOUR (Final):
Use bright and bold colors and give your Pop Art buildings life!!! You can use tempera paints, coloring pencils, watercolor pencils, or markers. The choice is up to you.

And presto! A colorful artwork you can enjoy, share, and most of all, be proud of!

Good luck and enjoy!
